A DAE-BRNS Symposium on "Nuclear Probes for Materials, Medicine and Industry (NPMMI-2026)", sponsored by the Board of Research in Nuclear Sciences, Department of Atomic Energy (DAE), Government of India, is being organized by Bhabha Atomic Research Centre (BARC), Mumbai, during October 08-10, 2026, at the Multipurpose Hall, BARC Training School Hostel, Anushaktinagar, Mumbai, in association with the Society for Positron Annihilation and Nuclear Probes (SPAN). The symposium will also include a special session commemorating 70 years of Neutron Activation Analysis (NAA) in BARC and DAE, India, since the operation and utilization of India's first research reactor, Apsara, in 1956. The primary objective of NPMMI-2026 is to provide a platform for enhancing interdisciplinary collaboration among R&D scientists, academicians, research scholars from DAE, academic and research institutions, and industry personnel in enhanced utilization of various nuclear probes.

Scope

Materials Research and Applications using Positron Annihilation Spectroscopy

Applications of Radioisotopes and Radiation in Healthcare and Industry

Materials Research and Applications using Neutron Scattering and Imaging Techniques

Nuclear Analytical Techniques for Chemical Characterization of Materials

Isotope and Radiation Technologies for Societal Applications

Studies on High Intense Photons and Electrons as well as Sub-atomic Particles

Developments in Facilities for Nuclear Probes including Electronics & Instrumentation

IMPORTANT DATES

Abstract Submission (online) : July 15, 2026
Intimation of Acceptance of Contributed Abstracts : July 31, 2026
Payment of Registration Fee and Submission of Registration & Accommodation Forms : August 14, 2026
